The Entertainer's Kitchen

Project LINK - Creating Spaces That Bring People Together

Designed for Entertaining, yet built for Real Life

Project Link showcases how thoughtful kitchen planning can create a space that feels elevated, practical, and made for connection.

At the centre of the Kitchen, is a generous island designed for sharing food, drinks, and good company.

More than extra bench space, it becomes the social anchor of the home; supporting both everyday family living and relaxed entertaining.

Paired with shaker profile cabinetry, soft green tones, brushed brass tapware from Yabby, warm timber flooring, and engineered 'Taj Classico' stone by Lavistoneau, the kitchen balances contemporary restraint with farmhouse warmth.

Hidden Mess. Effortless Entertaining

Behind every great entertaining kitchen is smart planning.

The Butler's Pantry in Project Link keeps preparation, storage, and entertaining clutter tucked away from the main kitchen; allowing the visible space to remain calm, clean, and guest ready.

The Pantry adds a secondary working zone behind the main kitchen; giving preparation, storage, and clean-up their own dedicated space.

This allows the island and main kitchen to remain open, presentable, and easy to gather around; especially when hosting.

Rather than purely being an added luxury, it is a considered planning feature that helps the kitchen function more efficiently during both everyday use and entertaining.
